WATERPROOFING

Waterproofing is seldom visible, yet vital to the performance of a building. It takes considerable knowledge and experience to implement the correct waterproofing system based on your building and business needs.

With various types of waterproofing systems available and over 20 years of unique waterproofing experience, Bothwell-Accurate can recommend and implement the waterproofing system ideally suited to your building and needs.

Often, building owners will encounter wet conditions below-ground because they believe the solution will be costly – but in some cases, it may require a simple repair or re-sealing that can be done from inside the building. We would be pleased to inspect your building and provide our recommendations for your waterproofing needs.

From new construction to repair projects, Bothwell-Accurate has dedicated waterproofing crews and are ready to deliver outstanding results on your next project.
